ACTIVITIES AND EVENTS

OUR GREEN PULSE: CCBA GOES INTERNATIONAL THROUGH ENVIRONMENTALLY-FRIENDLY SCIENTIFIC INCUBATORS!

Under the auspices of Shaikh Mohammed bin Ahmed Al Ghassani (Director of Small and Medium Enterprises Development Department in Dhofar Governorate) and in the presence of several board chairpersons, entrepreneurs, and directors of various public and private sectors in the local and regional labor market, Dhofar University Vice Chancellor, Professor Amer bin Ali Al Rawas signed a number of memorandums of understanding between the University, represented by CCBA, and representatives of the college's new local, regional and international partners, including Madayn and the Omani Academy for Small and Medium Sized Enterprises. The Cooperation agreements included the provision of training services, the financing of entrepreneurial initiatives, and the establishment of supervisory courses for scientific incubators at Dhofar University.

ACTIVITIES AND EVENTS

CCBA also announced its new strategic partnership with the Sharjah Entrepreneurship Center.

The winning teams announced were:

1. Trade Logic (ERP system) by student Ahmed Al Amry (College of Commerce and Business Administration): Trade logic ERP system aims towards helping small and medium sized enterprises manage their business transactions, releasing bills, managing inventory levels, and managing sales at higher accuracy level and using AI features.
2. “Ektefaa” platform by the students Ghareeba Musallam Ahmed Al Maashani and Eman Salim Mahad Al Maashan (College of Commerce and Business Administration): This is an electronic platform that aims towards raising awareness about Omani products and its positive impact on Omani economic performance. The platform is intended towards supporting many society's segments, for instance: the small and medium sized economies, service sector and industrial sector.

3. Bioplastic innovation by Mona Ahmed Habis, Mazouna Ali Balhaf, Rawan Muhammad Ghawas, Shaima Hamid Al-Amiri, Wafa Ahmed Jaaboub, Naima Muhammad Bawazir, and Kholoud Mubarak Al-Saidi (College of Engineering): Bioplastic innovation idea relies mainly on using local materials, like algae, and plant waste to create safe and better sustainable environment. This is mainly through transforming the waste and materials to bioplastic material. One of the main advantages of this bioplastic product is that it is a 100% friendly environment. A second advantage is that it decomposes faster and safer by natural organisms. A third advantage is that it is antibacterial.

ACTIVITIES AND EVENTS

In addition, CCBA announced two finalist teams who are competing for the fourth and the final scientific incubator seat. The two teams shall receive intensive training by Sharjah Entrepreneurship Center, more consultancy and mentoring sessions from Dhofar University entrepreneurship center after which they shall be evaluated by the evaluation committee again.

The finalist teams announced were:

1. Amin Al-Maashani (College of Engineering): The idea, in brief, is to benefit from the Mesquite tree, which is considered the biggest problem in the Omani environment, by using modern technologies, and introducing it into transformation industries, such as the manufacture of animal feed, compressed wood (MDF) and organic fertilizers.
2. Rebactose Company for Fay Al-Masahli's Student Group (College of Engineering): A company in the field of manufacturing environmentally friendly bacterial cellulose, using advanced technology to convert food waste into valuable and sustainable products.

CCBA PARTICIPATES IN RESEARCH CONFERENCES IN GERMANY AND ALGERIA

Dr. Omar Durrah presented a research paper on “The Role of Community Based Tourism in Developing Human Resource” at 47th EBES Conference which was held from 18 April to 20 April 2024 in Berlin in Germany. The paper's research team included: Dr. Rabia Imran, Lujain El-Maghraby, Dr. Mohammed Wamique Hisam, Dr. Muhammad Salman Shabbir, Dr. Ahmed Elbaz, Dr. Mohammed Baif Ali Sulaiman, and two researchers from the University of Genoa in Italy. The conference was jointly organized with the UN's ILO (International Labor Organization) with the support of the Istanbul Economic Research Association and in collaboration with the FOM University of Applied in Berlin.

ACTIVITIES AND EVENTS

In the conference, 229 papers by 458 colleagues from 52 countries were presented.

This study aimed to explore the importance of Community Based Tourism (CBT) for the growth of local human resources in Dhofar Governorate, and CBT emergence as a sustainable tool that not only promotes economic growth but also enhances the learning capacities and welfare of local communities. Through this paper, the CCBA research team explored effective strategies for utilizing human resource development tools within the tourism industry, providing actionable insight to policymakers, entrepreneurs, and community stakeholders to foster a deeper understanding of CBT's benefits and challenges and to outline practical applications for enhancing community welfare. Notably, this scientific study has been a part of a collaborative work of a team for a research project funded by (TRC) in Sultanate of Oman.

In another context, Dr. Mawih Al-Ani (Dean of the Faculty of Commerce and Business Administration) participated in the conference titled: "Environmental Accounting and its Role in Achieving Sustainable Development in Algeria" (online), which was held at the Faculty of Economic, Commercial and Management Sciences at the University of Oran 2 in Algeria. Dr. El-Ani's research paper was entitled: "Social Responsibility for companies and auditor fees: Evidence from the Sultanate of Oman". It should be noted that this research was a joint work between Dean Mawih Al-Ani and Master of Accounting student (Nada Al-Amri). It was part of the master's thesis submitted by Ms. Amri to obtain a master's degree in accounting from Dhofar University. The study aimed to determine the relationship between the social responsibility activities of Omani companies and the external auditor's wages. This conference reviewed more than 100 research papers representing more than 20 countries around the world.
